The Aquamed 100 Dry Hydrotherapy Massage Bed

“Dry” Hydrotherapy

Veraflex™ technology is the result of continuous effort to develop the most resilient and comfortable barrier between patient and water, which maximizes the treatment value while keeping the patient dry.

Pressure Control

The AM 100 offers 10 pressure settings ranging from 2 pounds per square inch (low pressure) to 16 pounds per square inch (high pressure). Many other Dry Hydrotherapy models only provide 2 levels of pressure.

Water-through-Air technology

With AquaMED's Water-through-Air technology, treatment pressure remains constant from the time it leaves the jets until it reaches the user. In contrast, many other Dry Hydrotherapy systems use Water-through-Water technology, which significantly reduces treatment pressure and overall therapy effectiveness.

Prescribed Therapy

The AM 100's Personal Therapy Control™ system allows for the highest level of Dry Hydrotherapy treatment customization. The pressure, duration, and target treatment settings may be adjusted to meet any client's needs. 6 programs are available to treat common symptoms.
